3. WITNESS SELECTION. Only Plaintiff may call Angel Rodriguez, Lonnie Paras, and Riley Adkins-O'Keefe. Only Defense may call Harper Martini, Austin Lewis, and Blaire Osborne (Martini may be called only in a battery trial—see Stipulation 7). Either side may call Sam Arnould, Danny Francazio, and Casey Soto. A team that exercises priority over Dr. Jimin Kwon or Dr. R. Cannon must use one of its three picks to call that witness. If a team does not exercise priority over Dr. Kwon or Dr. Cannon, that witness may be called by either side.

a. If BATTERY, the witness call order shall proceed as follows: P-P-D-D-P-D.

b. If NEGLIGENCE PER SE, the witness call order shall proceed as follows: P-D-D-P-D-P.

The pronouns of Sam Arnould, Danny Francazio, and Casey Soto, as well as Dr. Jimin Kwon and Dr. R. Cannon, will be determined by the side calling the witness. If Sam Arnould, Danny Francazio, Casey Soto, Dr. Jimin Kwon, or Dr. R. Cannon will not be called, Plaintiff will determine the pronouns of that witness.

6. TIME LIMITS. Each team has a combined total of 12 minutes for its opening statement and closing argument. All time remaining after opening statement will be reserved for closing argument. Each team has a combined total of 38 minutes for direct examination and cross examination. Each team must announce, in whole minutes, how much of its 38 minutes it designates for direct examination. The direct examination time selection must be 20, 21, 22, 23, or 24 minutes. The remainder of the 38 minutes will be the team's cross examination time. For example, if a team designates 23 minutes for direct examination, the team will have 15 minutes for cross examination. (Note: A team may not carry over unused time from direct examination to cross examination or vice versa. For example, if Plaintiff designates 24 minutes for direct examination but only uses 19 minutes on direct examination, Plaintiff's total cross examination time remains unchanged at 14 minutes.)

7. EXHIBITS AND DEMONSTRATIVES. Teams planning to use any demonstrative aid within the meaning of AMTA Rule 1.2(i) must show those to the other team during the Captains' Meeting so that any concerns may be brought to the attention of the AMTA Representatives. Failure to do so shall constitute an absolute bar to using the demonstrative in any way during trial. Any objections based on the Special Instructions or the AMTA Rules (related to the Captains' Meeting procedures or any materials disclosed during the Captains' Meeting) must be raised during the Captains' Meeting and may not be raised or renewed during trial. Objections based on the Midlands Rules of Evidence, however, may and must be made at trial.
